

ANTI-BULLYING POLICY

Philosophy

Shirley High School Performing Arts College promotes a safe learning environment where our values are upheld by all and everyone can be safe, happy and successful. We aim to keep bullying to a minimum so that all students feel safe and happy at school.

We believe that for everyone to benefit from our learning community, Shirley High School should be a place where students, staff, helpers, families and other visitors are made to feel welcome and comfortable and where everyone is treated with respect in an atmosphere free from intimidation.

We believe that all children and young people have the right to protection from harm, neglect and abuse and that their wellbeing is of paramount importance. Shirley High School aims to ensure good relationships between, and good behaviour towards, all members of its community and ensure that learning and personal development takes place in a climate of trust, safety and confidence.

The school has a system of rewards which aims to motivate and encourage students, as well as helping to build individual self-confidence and self-esteem. Shirley High School values everyone's unique contribution to our community and has a system of values which underpins our ethos.

Everyone has a responsibility for safeguarding and for promoting the well-being of all students, and all staff have a duty of care to ensure students are protected from harm.

Definition of bullying:

'A persistent, deliberate attempt to hurt or humiliate someone'

There may sometimes be misunderstanding about the meaning of the term 'bullying'. One-off incidents, whilst they may be very serious and must always be dealt with, do not fall within the definition of 'bullying'.

Types of bullying

There are various types of bullying, but most have three things in common:

- It is deliberately hurtful behaviour.
- It is repeated over time.
- There is an imbalance of power, which makes it hard for those being bullied to defend themselves.

There are various forms of bullying which include:

- Physical – e.g. hitting, kicking, taking belongings.
- Verbal – e.g. name calling, insulting, racist remarks.
- Indirect – e.g. spreading malicious rumours, excluding individuals from social groups, family feuds brought into school.
- Cyber – e.g. use of email, social networking sites, mobile phone messaging to spread rumours, make malicious comments.

The lives of students who are bullied are made miserable; they may suffer injury, they may attend erratically, they may lose self-confidence, and they are likely to underachieve educationally and socially. Many of the outward signs of bullying can be the same as other indicators of abuse such as:

Our Vision:

To develop aspirational learners who strive for excellence academically, creatively and culturally, benefitting from a wide range of opportunities led by inspirational educators.

- non accidental injuries (including self-abuse)
- low self-esteem, unhappiness, fear, distress or anxiety.

If unchecked, others may come to see bullying behaviour as acceptable within the school. It is not unknown for victims to become bullies of younger or more vulnerable students than themselves. Bullying can, and frequently does, have long term effects on victims, which may affect their adult lives.

Cyber-bullying

Cyberbullying is defined as the use of ICT, particularly mobile phones and the internet, to deliberately upset someone else. It can be an extension of face-to-face bullying, with technology providing the bully with another route to harass their target. However, it differs in several significant ways from other kinds of bullying: the invasion of home and personal space; the difficulty in controlling electronically circulated messages; the size of the audience; perceived anonymity; and even the profile of the person doing the bullying and their target.

Cyberbullying can also affect members of school staff and other adults; there are examples of staff being ridiculed, threatened and otherwise abused online by students.
